Acknowledgements

Pretrial Services is part of a larger justice community that works together to promote the administration of justice in Harris County. We would like to specifically recognize the Harris County Commissioners Court, Harris County Management Services, the District Criminal Courts, the County Criminal Courts at Law, and the members of the judiciary who comprise the department's standing committee as key contributors to a quality pretrial services program.

Pretrial Services Snapshots

The Harris County jail, the probable cause courtroom, Houston Police Department's central and southeast jails, and the Criminal Justice Center. What do they have in common? Pretrial Services has a presence at these locations 24 hours a day, 365 days a year. Visit any of our offices and you will find staff interviewing persons arrested and jailed, running criminal background checks, conferring with judges and magistrates about release and detention decisions, or supervising defendants in the pretrial stage of a case.

Staff compiled over 84,000 defendant reports on persons arrested and charged in Harris County.

The inmate processing center of the Harris County Jail where staff conducted nearly 42,000 defendant interviews.

Last year Pretrial Services prepared and presented over 71,000 defendant reports to the magistrates at the probable cause courtroom. Of those, 4,875 were granted a personal bond.

Activity at the HPD jails accounted for half of all defendant jail interviews conducted in 2007.

The defendant monitoring division managed over 67,000 in-office defendant contacts in 2007.

The department saw 10,346 new defendants added to the supervision case load over the course of 2007, averaging 2,183 defendants actively supervised at any given time.

Changes Make A Difference

IVR and Bar Coding Streamline Drug Testing Process

Over 50% of the defendants supervised by Pretrial Services are required to submit to drug testing as a condition of pretrial release. So any change to the drug test process has the potential to make a significant impact. An example of a small change that made a big difference was the introduction of bar codes to track laboratory-bound drug tests.

Using bar codes for all laboratory-bound tests has resulted in a time savings of about a 30 seconds per drug test. It doesn't sound like much, but the department processed over 28,000 laboratory-bound tests in 2007 and the savings equals over 240 staff hours a year.

The monitoring officer uses the bar code reader to process a urine specimen for delivery to the laboratory for testing.

Another change that had a major impact on operations was the implementation of integrated voice response, or IVR, for drug test notification. Defendants with a random drug test requirement used to call the Pretrial Services office to find out if they would be tested. Staff would field, on average, over 200 calls for drug test queries between the hours of 7:00am and 10:00am every day.

Now defendants call the IVR phone number, type in their SPN, and an automated program informs them whether or not they need to report for a drug test. Real time, web-based reports are available to pretrial staff to check on compliance. The IVR system now handles over 80% of drug test calls, freeing over 600 staff hours a year that are now used to focus on other case management issues.

These are two procedural changes made last year that exemplify how effective, targeted operational adjustments can have positive results. 🏢

New Procedure Expedites Release from Jail

Last year brought significant changes to how personal bonds for defendants incarcerated at the Houston Police Department (HPD) jail are processed. All personal bond documents are filed with the district clerk's office. Until last summer, the clerk sent all release orders resulting from a personal bond to the Sheriff's Office, even if the defendant was not in their custody. Defendants at HPD could not be released until a sheriff's deputy processed the release, handed the release form to a Pretrial Services officer, who then faxed the form to HPD. This often delayed a defendant's release by several hours.

After consulting with all the parties involved, everyone agreed that the Sheriff's office did not need to prepare a release for defendants not in their custody. Once the clerk accepts the personal bond, a Pretrial Services officer transmits a copy of the file marked document to HPD. Upon receipt, HPD immediately begins booking the defendant out of their jail. This new process has shaved hours off incarceration and prevented defendants at HPD, who have been granted a personal bond, from being transferred to the Harris County jail. 🏢

Most pretrial services offices are in operation 24 hours a day. Normal wear and tear is compounded by constant use. In 2007, renovations at the HPD central jail offices substantially improved work conditions. New counters and desk space, refurbished floors, and a fresh coat of paint provided a much needed makeover.

New desk at the HPD central jail office.

The Defendant Report

Pretrial officers have access to defendants within hours of arrest. The staff work twenty-four hours a day, seven days a week to interview defendants as soon as possible, the first step in preparing the defendant report. Then, using the initial interview as a foundation, the officer draws upon multiple information sources and compiles the data about the defendant into a comprehensive defendant report.

The defendant report assists the judiciary in making informed release and detention decisions for an individual defendant. The defendant report is used for bail review at the probable cause hearing and a hard copy is delivered to the assigned court for defendants on the day's docket. It is also available to authorized persons online in JIMS at any time.

Throughout the pretrial stage of a case the defendant report provides information that facilitates informed decision-making. Taken in aggregate, the information collected in the defendant report also provides a profile of persons charged in Harris County for class B misdemeanor and above offenses. 🏛️

The 2007 defendant reports show:

- Defendants charged with a felony offense accounted for 43% of all defendants interviewed.
- Almost 50% of felony arrests were for drug related offenses.
- 38% of defendants did not have a high school diploma or GED.
- Almost 23% of defendants were 21 years old or younger.
- While 37% of all defendants charged with a misdemeanor offense had no previous criminal convictions, only 23% of defendants charged with a felony had no prior record.
- Females represent a growing segment of the jail population.

Defendant Report Activity in 2007

The number of persons arrested and charged in Harris County declined 2.9% from last year's record high to 100,479 arrests. Subsequently, there were fewer defendant interviews conducted - 84,564 - on jailed defendants, down 0.8% from last year. The drop in interviews was less than the drop in arrests as the department was able to interview a greater percentage of the arrest population, up from 82.4% last year to 84.2% in 2007. New staff positions added over the last 6 months of 2007 and dedicated to this purpose had a positive effect and is expected to have an even greater impact in the coming year.

The arrest population saw an increase of 2.3% for felony offenses to 41,401 defendants, while the misdemeanor arrests declined 6.2% to 59,078 defendants. Felony offenses accounted for over 40% of all arrests for the first time.

Staff prepared 48,388 reports on defendants arrested for a misdemeanor offense, compiling information on 82% of that population. For those defendants arrested for a felony, the percentage was 87%, or 36,176 reports completed.

Other defendants interviewed included 35 defendants who had open warrants but were not in custody. Another 4,454 defendants posted a financial bond and were interviewed after release in order to initiate court-ordered supervision. Abbreviated versions of the defendant report were prepared for 227 defendants, most of whom were ordered to submit to a point-of-collection drug test but did not have a current defendant report on file and were not going to be supervised by the department. In addition, pretrial services staff made 9,872 referrals to MH-MRA for defendants suspected of having a mental health issue, a 12.5% increase over last year.

The number of arrests and the number pretrial defendant reports completed declined slightly in 2007. The number of defendant reports as a percentage of arrests increased.

The number of mental health referrals continues to grow.

Pretrial Services added 10,346 new defendants to its case load in 2007, a slight increase over the number of defendants added last year. Of those, 58.1% or 6,009 defendants posted some form of financial bond. Another 4,310 defendants, 41.7% of the total, were released from jail on a personal bond. The remaining 27 defendants were supervised by order of the court without bail as a factor, i.e., summons, Non-PTS personal bonds direct from the court, and modified sentence supervision orders.

* Includes 27 defendants ordered supervised where bail was not a factor.

Supervision Case Load Review

Standard Release Conditions

- In-person check-ins on each court date*
- Check-ins by phone or in person at least every two weeks*
- Calls the day before court to confirm court date*
- Notification of all address, telephone number or employment changes*
- Travel restrictions out of the Harris County area*
- Complaining witness contact prohibition*

Enhanced Release Conditions

- Refrain from illegal/illicit drug possession or use*
- Submit to mandatory scheduled or random drug tests*
- Install and use ignition interlock device*
- Adhere to a curfew with or without electronic monitoring*
- Abide by residence requirements*
- Seek or maintain employment*
- Seek or maintain attendance in education program*
- Participate in substance and alcohol abuse treatment*
- Participate in mental impairment services*

All defendants supervised by Pretrial Services must comply with a set of standard conditions. The court may also order defendants to comply with other conditions. Of the 10,346 defendants placed under supervision by the judiciary last year, 3,860 or 37% had standard supervision conditions only. The remaining 6,486 defendants (63%) were required to comply with one or more of the enhanced conditions listed to the left. Defendants on financial bond comprised 92% of the defendants with enhanced supervision conditions.

Drug testing was the activity most frequently ordered. Of those defendants with enhanced conditions, 81% had drug testing as a condition.

The courts also ordered 9.7% of supervised defendants with enhanced conditions to wear electronic monitoring devices. The device allows Pretrial Services to determine whether a defendant is complying with a court-ordered curfew by monitoring his or her proximity to a transmitter attached to a land line telephone.

Another 27% of the defendants were required to have an ignition interlock device installed on the vehicle that they drive. This technology prevents a person from starting the vehicle without providing a deep-lung breath sample that is tested for alcohol. If alcohol is detected in the sample above a given level, the vehicle will not start.

A count of the number of defendants on supervision on the last day of each month gives a snapshot of the size of the supervision caseload throughout the year. In 2007, the caseload averaged 2,183 active defendants on supervision. Of those, approximately 73.5% had enhanced supervision requirements. The overall caseload size increased 5.1% over 2006 with a 14.8% increase in defendants with enhanced conditions. 🏠

Drug Test Activity

Screening for drug use remains the condition most often imposed by the judiciary as a condition of pretrial release. Most defendants are tested using a random test procedure. The defendant does not know if he or she will be tested until the day of the test. For defendants not supervised but determined by a judge to need a drug test, the department offers point-of-collection tests (POCT) which test for five categories of substances and deliver immediate results.

There were 7,105 people tested for drug or alcohol use in 2007, most as a condition of supervision. Of those, 5,678 people, or 79%, were on some form of financial bond while being supervised. Another 270 defendants, or 4%, were granted a personal bond. The remaining 17%, or 1,197 people, were mostly defendants on financial bond who were tested at the request of the court but not supervised; but also included persons with modified sentences, summons, and out of county cases.

The standard drug test protocol for supervised defendants with a drug test condition is to use a POCT for the first test. All subsequent tests are sent to a laboratory for analysis.

In 2007, there were 4,655 first test POCT samples collected and tested on site. An additional 1,768 POCT samples were tested at the request of the court. A total of 28,801 specimens were collected and sent to a laboratory for analysis. The department also * includes defendants on financial bond but not supervised and defendants supervised where bail was not a factor.

monitored 72 breath analysis tests using a device that assesses breath alcohol concentration from a breath sample and 33 transdermal patch tests on defendants who could not provide a urine specimen.

Slightly more than 20% of all drug test-event results were positive in 2007. If the test events are broken out by first test event and subsequent test events the positive rate drops significantly, going from 49.7% on the first test to 20.5% by the third test. 🏠

Disposition of Supervision Period

In 2007, 10,127 defendants exited the Pretrial Services supervision program. They included 4,273 defendants on personal bond, 5,814 defendants on financial bond, and 40 people who were not on bond or who had non-Harris County cases.

A review of the 10,087 defendants with a personal or financial bond shows that 76%, or 7,697 defendants, completed the supervision period and left the program because their criminal case was over. Looking at the bonded defendants by offense level, there were 5,095 defendants with a misdemeanor case and 2,602 with a felony case. Case dispositions for defendants with misdemeanor charges include 47% with no additional jail time, 28% with jail time, and 25% dismissed. Of defendants charged with a felony, 48% received no additional jail time, 28% were ordered to jail or prison, and 24% saw their cases dismissed or no-billed. The most common sentence imposed included some form of probation with 32.5% of all misdemeanor and 45% of all felony cases resulting in post-trial supervision.

Of the remaining 24% of defendants whose supervision period ended before the disposition of their criminal cases, 22.5% did not comply with other supervision conditions or failed to appear in court when scheduled. Defendants supervised that missed a court appearance which resulted in bond revocation or forfeiture account for 9.1% of the total. Noncompliance with other conditions of supervision (e.g., refrain from substance abuse and abide by curfew restrictions) represent 13.4% of those who left the program. The remaining 1.2% exited for reasons other than noncompliance. These include appeal judgements or situations where the court ordered the supervision terminated.

Of the 40 people with a non-bond or non-Harris County case, 95% successfully completed the supervision period. 🏠

Personal Bond - 4,273 defendants

Financial Bond - 5,814 defendants

Status of warrants issued in 2007 for all supervised cases as of February 15, 2007. A status of 'Other' includes warrants returned unexecuted or where the defendant posted a new bond.

Every effort is made to resolve situations where noncompliance results in the issuance of a warrant. The court is apprised of information that supports consideration for reinstatement of the bond. For the remaining fugitives, a pretrial investigator attempts to locate the individual and, working with law enforcement, facilitate apprehension.

Of the 1,040 warrants issued, over 82% have been resolved.
